

Let the wedding planning begin!! #WhenBridesmaidDutyCalls

First off, friends, I have to apologize about my posts being so few and far between the last year or so. I've been very happily focused on my full-time career (offline) - in turn, my actual hobby blogging time has been scarce. For more frequent updates, please do follow me on Instagram or Facebook.

Now on to some GOOD NEWS!

In the last year, both of my little sister-in-law's have gotten engaged to really great guys. A growing family is always a blessing and it's a really exciting time for our family.

I LOVE weddings so to have these two very special days coming up for two of my closest ladies (and only siblings) -- I am THRILLED.

Well, today, my sister-in-law made it official and asked her bridal party to come together.

It's awesome each and every time bridesmaid duty calls (this will be my 3rd) but this occasion is extra special. My first sister to get married!